

Unemployed Men to Be Given Work When Board Is Approved

Senator Wicks, Speaking for Mayor-elect Walker, Who is Ill, Assured Idle Men at Mass Meeting That as Soon as State Approved Civil Works Board, Work Would be Started Here.

Senator Arthur H. Wicks, speaking in behalf of Mayor-elect Harry B. Walker, who is confined to his home by illness, assured those attending the mass meeting of the unemployed held at the city hall Friday evening, that as soon as the state administration approved the proposed members of the local Civil Works Administration, that it was prepared to place men at work at once. Senator Wicks said that the new administration was working on projects so that as soon as the new board was approved that men would be placed at work at once.

The names of the three men suggested by Mayor-elect Walker and filed with Mayor Carey are Henry Forst, of the Forst Packing Company, Nicholas Horseboom, state road contractor, and Alva S. Staples, president of the Staples Brick Company. These names have been forwarded to the state civil works administration for approval.

Mayor Carey, one of the speakers of the evening, stated that unless the incoming administration acted promptly in putting into effect a civil works program that he would place men at work on some of the 19 projects he had proposed for the approval of the state civil works administration.

Attorney Palmer Canfield, of the Workers' Cooperative Association, also spoke and stated that it was up to the unemployed to take proper steps to get action started.

Senator Wicks said that Alderman-at-large Helselman, acting for Mayor-elect Waiker, was attending a conference at which the Foxhall avenue sewer project was being discussed as a proposed civil work project.

Major Carey's list of 19 projects follows:

No. 1—Extension of Washington avenue at the Boulevard for development as a playground. The land is owned by William Lawton, and he is willing to deed a portion of it to the city for the aforementioned purpose.

No. 2—Cut trees and brush along the bank of the Rondout Creek from Wilbur to Eddyville.

No. 3—Widen Abeel street at various parts.

No. 4—Build Greenkill avenue between South Wall street and Wallington avenue. This is a very short street and the development there will coincide with the other improvements that have been made and will be made in that section.

No. 5—Build necessary walls on the Boulevard which was specified in the State Highway Department.

No. 6—Widen that part of East Union street known as the High Road between Hasbrouck avenue and Yonkers man street.

No. 7—Investigation as to parcels of land situate in the Wilber section willed to the City of Kingston by the late Hon. A. T. Clearwater as to development thereof into a park or playground.

No. 9—Extension of existing water mains into districts where no service now exists.

No. 10—Widen Mary's avenue from Pine Grove avenue to Andrew street and build a sidewalk along the street.

No. 11—Widen Foxhall avenue from Flatbush avenue to West Shore

No. 13—Paint fire alarm and police signal boxes.

No. 14—Do such painting and make such repairs as will be possible and necessary to all public school buildings during the Thanksgiving vacation.

No. 16—Repair existing sewers a per plan and map of City Engineer Hallinan at the following places:
Montrepose avenue.

West Chester street.
Levan street.
Broadway.
DuBois street.
Wurts street.

No. 17—Painting and varnishing interior of City Home, and making certain alterations and repairs suggested by the state inspector.

No. 18—Repairing the old Wells engine house on Mill street so as to make it fit for such uses as the council finds necessary so to do.

New Paltz Normal School Activities

New Paltz, Nov. 25.—The regular chapel period program in the Normal School on Tuesday, November 21, was as follows: "Thanksgiving Hymns," assembly. Miss Esther Bensley read the 67th Psalm. Lord's Prayer in unison. Announcements, by Miss Bensley, chairman. Dr. Lawrence H. Vandenberg welcomed the extension teachers back to the campus. The Senior Class gave a skit advertising their service, which was given on the afternoon of the 23rd.

Miss Edna Feeley, president of the graduating class of 1933, and Valdictorian of her class, has returned to the campus and is taking the rural courses.

Idella Leggett and Marion McCaul will spend their second quarter supervising in the training school. Betty Casey and Muriel Lang have returned from the first quarter's extension teaching.

Recent guests at the Agon's Sorority house were Patrick Gallagher, D. Shaffer and Florence Greater.

Miss Jessie Pritch, health director, and a group of students visited Vassar College last Wednesday and were Vassar's guests for the day. Things seen and done there were very interesting to the group. The purpose of this trip was to inspect Vassar and attend a discussion on child health motivation.

The Cliftonians gave a farewell party to their seniors who left on their last ten weeks of extension teaching. They served a turkey dinner in their honor.

The interschool soccer game between the freshmen and upper-classmen has been postponed indefinitely due to the cold weather. Miss Deane announced that if it is no warmer by Thanksgiving, the game will probably not be played.

The Melodians of Huling's Barn in Kingston was the feature of the senior service tea dance Thursday, November 23, in the gymnasium. The decorations that carried out the theme of the occasion were a number of large cardboard milk bottles, which were from Borden, Sheffield and other such companies. This was the first of the three tea dances which will be given by various classes in an effort to increase the sum of the milk fund in the practice school. Through this, many of the children will receive nourishment which otherwise they could not and would not receive. The entertainment was contributed by Charles Alexander, J. Costa and Peg Forrestal. Mr. Alexander sang and the other two dressed as children, danced.

The Delphic pledges have been undergoing informal initiation this week. The student body has been greatly entertained by their stunts which included rolling eggs, measuring flagstones with half inch match sticks, pushing peanuts, etc.

The arts and crafts and orchestra will meet Monday at 3:20 and 3:30 respectively.

The Thanksgiving vacation will start at noon Wednesday, November 29.

Dorothy Keddie, circulation manager of the Nepono, the school paper, has been appointed president of Student Council to replace Doris Schaefer, who had cause to resign from office in order to fulfill the requirements of the point system. Miss Schaefer is at present manager of Outing Club, a member of the band, orchestra, inter-sports council and Student Council.

Dr. Thompson, pastor of Trinity Methodist Church of Newburgh is expected to be the speaker at the regular chapel period on Tuesday, November 28.

Coal is found in varying amounts in 29 per cent of the 56 counties in Montana.

Saturday Society Review

The Junior League will hold its regular meeting Monday at the home of Miss Adelaide Prosser, 151 Albany avenue, when Mrs. Jacob H. Trumper, Jr., will be the hostess.

The Auxiliary of the Kingston Hospital has completed the plans for the annual tea dance to be held Thanksgiving afternoon from 4 to 7 o'clock at the Turner Home on Broadway. Paul Zucca's orchestra will furnish music for the dancing. Every comfort and interest of the guests has been carefully arranged by the committee chairman, Mrs. Mortimer Downer, tickets; Mrs. J. Charles Snyder, refreshments; Mrs. Kenneth L. Lower, cloak room; Mrs. Harold Baker, music. It is expected that this tea dance will be a most successful and gala affair, coming at the ideal time of day for sitting in an otherwise blank spot in the holiday.

Arrangements are being made for a game party Thursday, December 7, for the benefit of the Women's Exchange. It will be held at the home of Mrs. Roger H. Loughran in Hurley and will differ from the usual benefit party in that it will be an evening affair and men as well as women will attend. Although the committee is arranging for a widest variety of games, contract bridge will undoubtedly be the choice of the majority of those attending. There will be a prize for each table and refreshments will be planned with the men's tastes distinctly in mind. The committee in charge of this party are Mrs. Roger H. Loughran, Mrs. Clarence O. Fromer, Mrs. Harold Baker, Mrs. A. H. Chambers, Mrs. Victor Livingston, Mrs. Cornelius S. Treadwell, Mrs. David Terry, Mrs. Stanley Matthews, Mrs. Mary Treadwell, Mrs. David Burge, Mrs. Ralph Gregory, Mrs. Stephen Hiltbrand, Mrs. Alva Staples. Tables may be reserved by calling any of the committee. The men are especially requested to forget their cigarettes at home as there will be an opportunity to purchase the regular brands that evening. It is expected that a large number will attend since this party will come as a forerunner to the social festivities of the Christmas season.

The event of the week of outstanding importance to the school group and to the high school alumni returning home for Thanksgiving vacation is the annual senior prom. In accordance with a custom of long standing this dance will be held Thanksgiving evening, November 30, at 8:30 o'clock. At that time the high school gymnasium will be decorated with streamers of crimson and gold. Roger Baer and his orchestra of Golden Rule Inn will furnish the music. This class affair is being arranged by Harold Darling, assisted by Miss Dorothy Donnelly, Miss Ruth Selgel, Miss Mary Davis and Miss Elizabeth Tinney.

Today a number of Kingston followers of football are in Philadelphia attending the renewal of the annual historic match between the Army and Navy eleven. Among these fans are Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Matthews, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew J. Cook, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Joyce, Dr. and Mrs. Chester B. Van Gasse, Mr. and Mrs. M. Donald Lane, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Gross and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Garland.

On Monday Mrs. Frederic Holcomb entertained at luncheon at Miss Hasbrouck's "Shop in the Garden." Her guests were Miss Belle Stewart, head of the State Occupational Therapy; Miss Ruth Coon, head of Occupational Therapy at the Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital; and Mrs. A. DuBois Rose.

Announcement has been received of the coming marriage on Thursday, November 30, of Miss Lois Newton of Grand avenue, Baldwin, Long Island, to Arthur Brush of Boston. Miss Newton will have her sister, Miss Eleanor Newton, as maid of honor, while Robert Brush of St. Albans, Vermont, will be his brother's best man. Miss Newton is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. Newton and is well known in Kingston as her father, who is now superintendent of schools at Baiton, was for several years a member of the Kingston High School faculty.

The walls of the Shop in the Garden rang with laughter at the "story" luncheon given there at Wednesday of this week. The first prize was won by Mrs. George Hasbrouck for the oldest story, Miss Martha Stone came second with an original poem, while Mrs. Harry Fromer received a prize for the most stories and Mrs. Corinne Preston for the shortest story. Mrs. Frederic Holcomb having quipped her ankle could not be present, so the prize for the oldest story went to her with everyone's condolence. Here the prizes gave out but honorable mention must be given for the two best old stories which were a tie between Mrs. Matthew Hasbrouck and Mrs. John D. Schoonmaker. Mrs. Henry L. Bibby told the funniest hospital story and Mrs. Robert R. Rodie the best combination of George Washington and "New Yorker" story. Mrs. Myron Teller and Mrs. Theodore O'Holmes tied in style. Mrs. William A. Warren gave the most up to date farm anecdote. The oldest stories of Mrs. Harold F. King and Mrs. John Miller tried to outdo the older stories of Miss Ellen van Slyke and Mrs. Minnie V. S. Owens. Mrs. Charles Tappen, Mrs. Charles De La Vergne and Mrs. James O. Winston each could have won first prize if the honors had held out. Mrs. Francis J. Higginson entertained with the spookiest story, besides helping Mrs. Howard Lewis, who gave the party, select the winners; no easy task as each and every guest deserved a prize.

Tuesday, November 21, Mrs. William Coles of Maiden Lane celebrated her eighty-ninth birthday with a party given in her honor by her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Roswell Coles. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Serris Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Norwood, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Needes, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Mack, Mr. and Mrs. Jay Vanderlyn. Honors were given to Mrs. Vanderlyn, Mrs. Norwood, Mr. Needes and Mr. Norwood.

Mrs. Jay LeFever of New Paltz entertained recently in honor of Mrs. Hazen Hatch of Marshall, Michigan, and Mrs. George Perrett of Chicago, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence C. Vandenberg.

Mrs. J. E. Conway of Conway Place and her sister, Mrs. Albert A. Alhamari, of 17 Wynn street, motored home on Monday from a week's trip to New York city where they attended the closing of the National Horse Show's golden jubilee held at Madison Square Garden.

Mrs. Harry Pitts of Wall street spent last week-end with her daughter, Mrs. Pitt, of Loudonville.

Miss Jean Lovatt of Mill street is spending the week-end with Miss Jean Babcock on Florence street.

Mrs. Edward B. Wilburn of Saugerties entertained a few Kingston friends at dinner on Friday evening at her home, Meadowsides.

Mrs. Raymond R. Gross of the Governor Clinton Hotel and Mrs. Joseph Garland of Lucas avenue spent last week-end in New York city, stopping at the Hotel Marlborough.

At the convention of the State Federation of Women's Club held at Elmira last week, Kingston was represented by the following women: Mrs. Harry B. Walker, president of the Federation of Kingston Clubs; Mrs. Frederick Snyder, Lowell Club; Mrs. J. C. Fraser, Twentieth Century; Mrs. Ward Brigham, Sorosis; and Mrs. Harry Van Wagenen. During the week they were entertained at afternoon tea by Mrs. George Carlier, sister of Mrs. Clarence Dumm, of this city. Among the outstanding women speakers at the convention were Mrs. Grace Morrison Poole, president of the General Federation, whose subject was "Club Women the World Around"; Mrs. Laura McMullen, chairman of International Relation of the General Federation, spoke on "The World Today"; while Miss Selma Ekrem of Turkey gave a splendid and interesting talk on "Young Turkey Looks Westward". Miss Ekrem and her mother were among the first to go unrelieved under the new regime and were at first greatly criticized. The meetings were most inspiring.

The little pupils of The Jack and Jill School at 124 Foxhall avenue, will present a program, appropriate to the Thanksgiving holiday on Tuesday afternoon, November 28, at two o'clock, in the school building. The parents of the pupils and friends are cordially invited to attend.

Dance at Accord. The regular Saturday night dance will be held in Odd Fellows' Hall, Accord, tonight. Pineola orchestra will furnish the music for modern and old fashioned dancing.

Caution Against Emities. "Do not hope to avoid emities," said Hi Ho, the sage of Chinatown. "No matter how carefully you may choose your path, you must find yourself in some one's way."

So far, even our "proletariat" for our mild substitute for one, is conservative.

That thing about our "capitalistic system," through, means an uneasy feeling—Capitalism—what the half-forgetful Technocrats called the "profit system" and other groups called the "profit system"—is obviously dying. It can't be dying; but after four years of consultation, the doctors don't agree yet what to do for it.

MODEL CITY GOVERNMENT.

"It will be my effort," says Mayor-elect La Guardia, "to give New York city a civic administration so efficient and free from graft, structures and waste as to set a model for every city in the nation." This is well spoken. A "city free from graft, structures and waste" is a high ideal. Such a community would be "a city set upon a hill."

If the biggest city in America can set such a golden example to the rest of the country, even for so short a time as one mayor's term, it will win more attention and interest for its government than it has won for its excellence in trade, finance and amusement. Hitherto, it has been the small cities that were well governed. It would be profitable, too, for New York, quite aside from the immediate saving in municipal expenditure. If La Guardia does his best and the times give him a fair chance, he may attract to the metropolis more visitors and more business than the free-spending Jimmy Walker ever did.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

BY James W. Barton, M. D.

(Registered in accordance with the Copyright Act)

INFECTED TEETH

A few years ago one of the witty sayings was "It is easy to be a doctor, all you have to say is 'it's your teeth that are the cause of your illness'."

The fact that the teeth were considered the cause of disease was said to be a "new" invention of the doctors.

At a matter of fact in 1801 Dr. Benjamin Rush, the famous physician, reported the cure of disease by extraction of diseased teeth.

Unfortunately, the relation of diseased teeth to disease was only discovered about 25 years ago, but it has now been so thoroughly proven that one never hears any more jokes about it. Bad teeth and their deadly effect upon the body is now known in practically every household.

How do physicians and dentists know that teeth definitely cause illness?

1. A patient is suffering with rheumatism, heart, kidney or other illness, and after removal of bad teeth or tooth, he is in a very short time free of any of the symptoms. In some cases the symptoms flare up immediately after the removal of the teeth, but in a few days, or weeks at most, symptoms which have been present for months and years disappear.

2. In examining under the microscope the little organisms that have been found about the infected teeth, they have found this same type of organism in the diseased part, such as in an infected knee or other joint.

3. By taking these organisms found about the diseased teeth and injecting them into animals they have been able to produce the same illnesses as those which they caused in man.

From the above you can readily see why the dentist of the future will really be a physician who is a mouth specialist just as another physician is an eye or heart specialist.

Thus Dr. Herbert V. Dodson, of Peterborough, Ontario, a physician, suggests the need for "team" work between physicians and dentists. For instance, a patient with an inflamed eye, consults an eye specialist, who thinks that some body condition is causing the trouble and sends the patient to a physician who suspects the teeth and he sends him to the dentist who treats or removes the teeth, which are suspicious and the eye condition clears up.

Or a patient consults a dentist who finds a long standing infection of the teeth, and advises the patient to consult his physician and learn what harm if any may have been done to the body—heart, joints, kidneys or other parts, by this infection.

OUR SICK SYSTEM.

"America is too young, vigorous and vital a country to collapse," says Elmer Rice, brilliant New York playwright. "But I think capitalism is going to make its last stand, and we are going to have a Fascist dictator of one kind or another. The capitalistic system carries in it the seeds of disillusion and destruction." He may be talking through his hat. Many people are doing so now. Nobody knows what is going to happen, because we have never been in a fix like this before.

The prophecy of a "fascist dictator" naturally suggests Italy. It is, conceivably today that the American people would tolerate Mussolini, though our business men often express admiration for him. We are suspicious, anyway, are not as tolerant of dictators as the Latin, Slavic and Mongolian are. We are too fond of kicking against authority and changing rulers. If we did go in for dictatorship, we'd go Fascist before we went Commun-

THE CAPITOL OF CHRISTIANITY

ST. PETER'S IN ROME

THE Church of Saint Peter, the largest Christian place of worship, stands on the site occupied in ancient times by Nero's Circus, the scene of countless martyrdoms. Designed by Bramante, it was begun by Pope Julius II in 1506. The construction was continued by Michelangelo in 1546, the 71-year old artist accepting the post as a religious duty. He did not live to see the building completed, but left a small wooden model of the marvelous dome, which was faithfully followed by his successors.

The great colonnade of 284 Roman columns in front of the church was added by Bernini in the middle of the seventeenth century. In the center of the plaza is an obelisk which was brought to Rome in the first century A.D.

The interior of this center of Christendom is crowded with altars, mosaics, tombs, shrines and works of art. For all its glories, the church has been in the hands of so many architects, each with his own ideas and tastes, that today it is but a poor replica of Bramante's and Michelangelo's beautiful designs.

Christopher's Naughty Prank

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER

"Your Crow," said Grandma Grouchy Galump, "pulled down every piece of my washing which was hanging out to dry."

"I had to sooner turned my back to attend to some other chores than I saw that Crow, that wicked, bad, Crow (and Grandma shook her fist in Christopher's direction) taking a clothespin in his beak and letting the last piece of my wash fall to the ground."

"My line is over a muddy patch. Now all my clothes will have to be washed again."

Willy Nilly could just picture Christopher enjoying this prank, and he smiled—just a little—to himself. But to Grandma he said:

"I am so sorry, and I will do your wash over again for you."

Grandma was not so angry now. "All right," she agreed, thankful that she did not have to do her work a second time. And off she went.

"So that's what you did!" exclaimed Willy Nilly, Christopher. "Now, on your word of honor, did you take the money from our family?"

"Certainly did not," cried Christopher. "I admit that I did pull down Grandma's wash, for what is life without a touch of mischief?"

Velvet Wraps in Jewel Colorings

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

THERE is a color glory about this season's velvet evening wraps which is simply entrancing. The scene in the foyer of the theater or opera house as fair patrons of the arts flit about in their gorgeous velvet wraps reminds one of a huge jewel box filled with animated rubies and sapphires, emeralds, turquoise and topaz, for fashion has decreed a vogue of jewel colors for evening velvets. The list of delectable colors also includes such deep rich hues as ecru, blackberry and the now-popular rust. Also, eel gray.

Even more alluring and exotic are the new Chinese colorings, for jades and lacquer reds and vivid blues and the golden yellows of the Orient are top headlines on the present autumn and winter velvet color card.

However, it is not only wealth of color that intrigues in the velvet realm, for there is added lure in the fact that the term velvet includes a wide diversity of weaves in these modern times. That aristocrat, Lyons velvet, is present both in stiff and soft versions. Likewise the beloved transparent tulle continues to hold their own. Then by way of novelty comes such beguiling types as the very fashionable ribbed velvets and the many crushed, nubby, doll pouffe and faconne varieties.

Velvets enlivened with metal threadwork also make one conscious of the new elegance which is sweeping through fashion. To fall to mention at this time the richly colored plaid velvets which are the envy of every woman who sees them would be a grave sin of omission.

Quality, color, matchless detail, all combine to make the superbly beautiful velvet wraps in the picture carry the message that this is indeed an era of luxurious fashions in which we are living. The first of this patrician quarter is hip-length, and of eel gray Lyons velvet. The modish low shoulder silhouette is accentuated by smocking. To those who covet a sleek slenderness of line, the fact that wrap-around coat types remain in favor, is most happily reassuring. The stunning doll-like three-quarter-length velvet wrap illustrated to the right at the top, is that sort. Velvet is a lovely corbeau blue fashioning this exquisite garment. The lining is a lighter blue, and the lavish for which borders this model is creamy pale beige.

Another from among the aristocrats in the realm of evening wraps is posed below to the left in the group. Here velvet of sumptuous blue dramatizes the luxury of the present season. In point of styling detail it is a masterpiece. Collars which fence about the neck as does this one, bespeak the newest of the new.

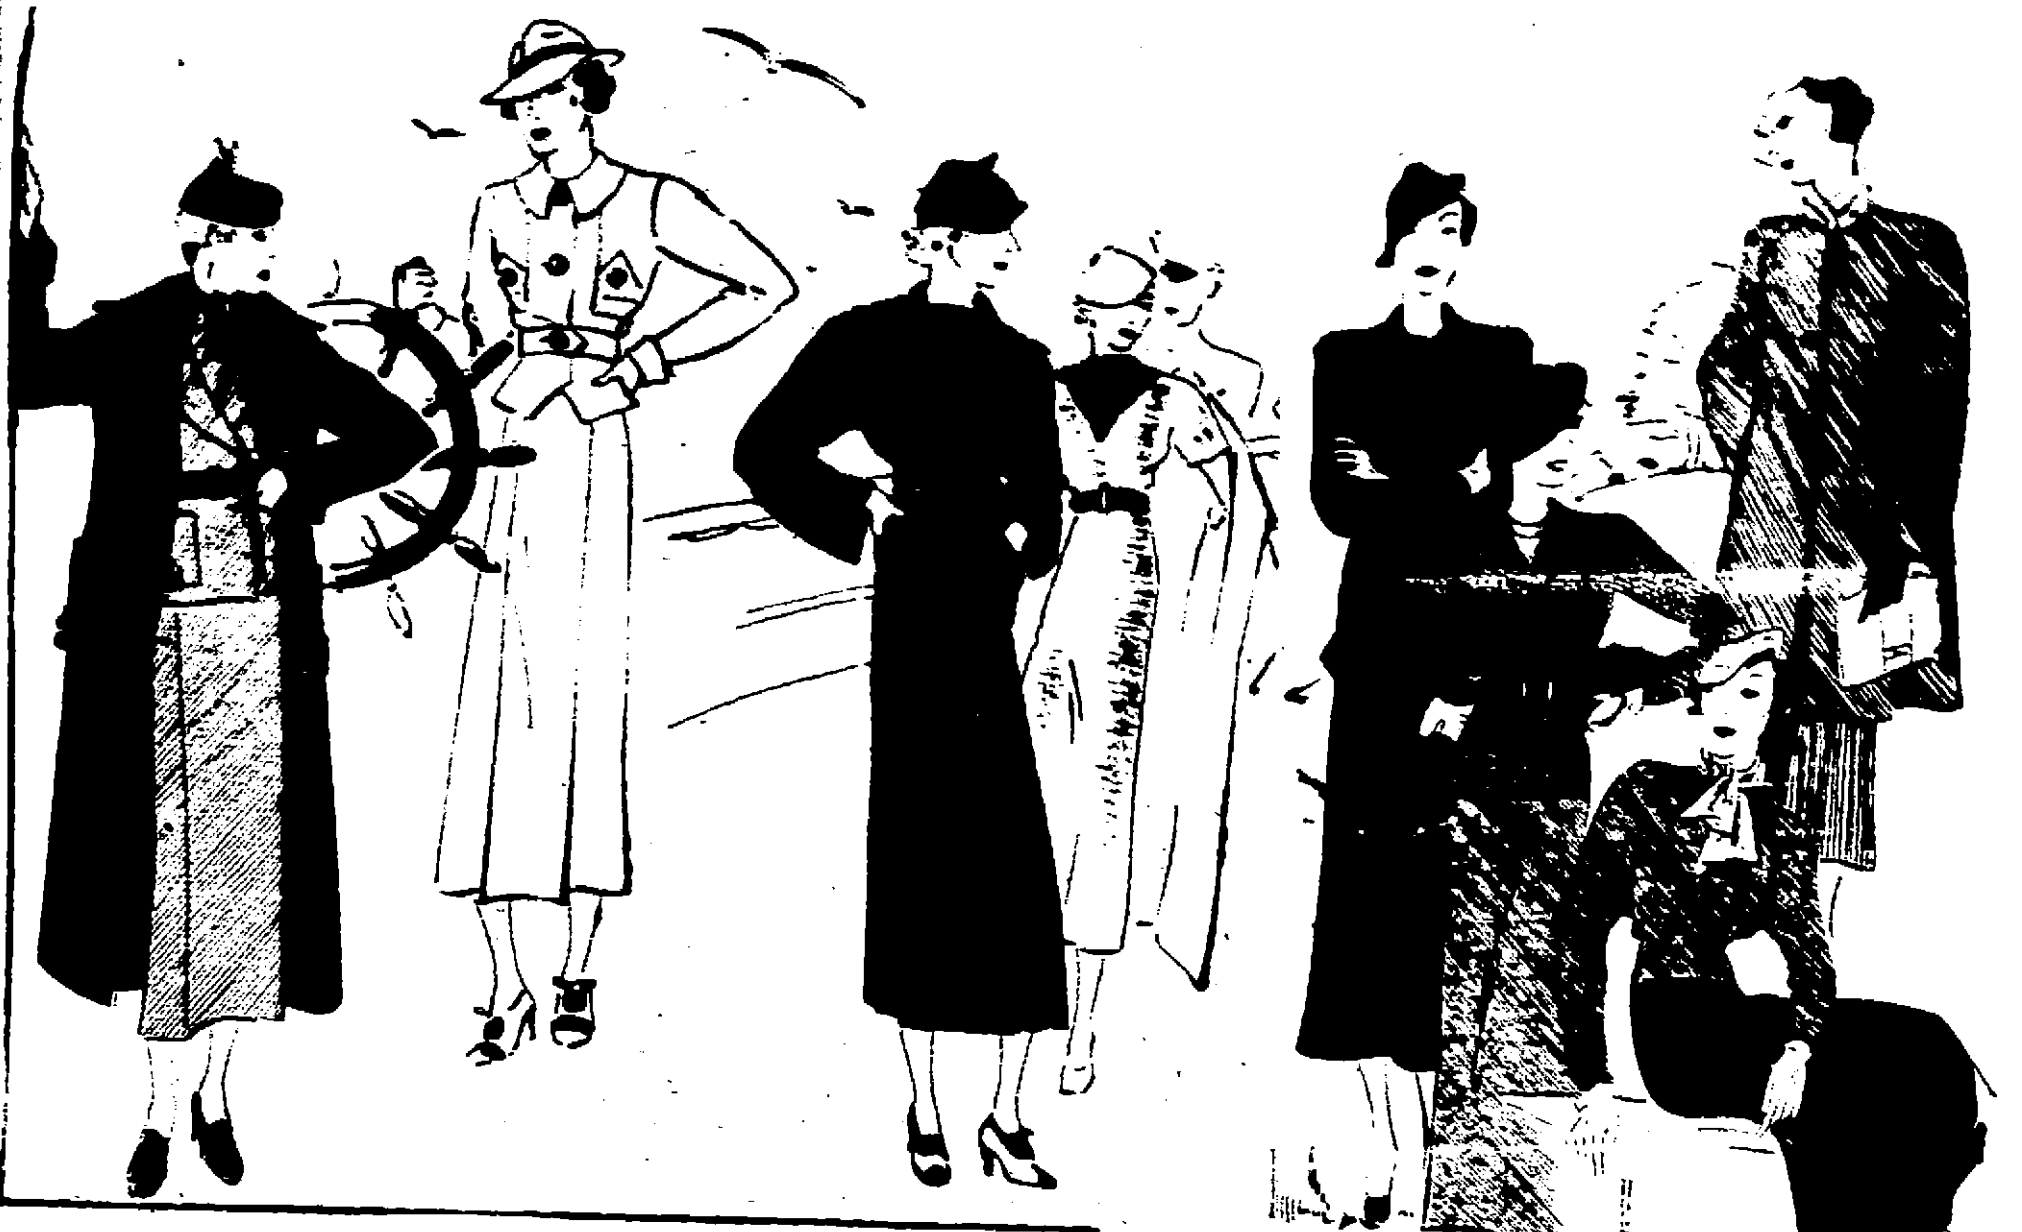

Before we proceed with this story of velvets-beautiful, we want to take time to call your attention to the handsome jeweled hair ornaments and the glittering bracelets which lend glamorous accent to the appearance of each of the ladies of fashion posed to the left (above and below) in the picture. Hair ornaments are real style news, also bracelets set with precious stones.

Over her charming gown of stately white satin, mildly posing to the right below wears a gorgeous floor-length coat of ruby transparent velvet. It has a smart collar of self-velvet, for so to do so richly colorful a wrap would be but an anti-climax.

Fashion Goes Completely Romantic and Reminiscent

New York—Pre-war elegance has returned in anticipation of pre-war hospitality and intimacy. The curtain has been rung up, and the stage set for a socially brilliant winter whether one spends it at home, cruising about, or in winter sports circles.

Clothes are just simply grand. That's all there is to it. They are business-like, dramatic, romantic—anything you happen to want them to be. What's more important, they do something for you, only be sure it isn't by way of caricature.

One of the strongest style influences today is the movies, and we don't necessarily mean Mae West; either, although her sex has not set by any manner of means. There is Madame Bovary and there is the whole galaxy of wives of England's Henry Monarchs. Henry VIII, himself, has been taken to the heart of the matter by Anne of Cleve and the other unfortunate ladies of Henry's choice, and has taken to basques and such things as are worn in the Madame Bovary film. What are a few

Oyster Cocktail, Serving 8

1 pint small oysters, 4 olives, chopped
2 tablespoons chili sauce, 1/2 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons catsup, 1/2 teaspoon paprika
1 tablespoon horseradish, 1/2 teaspoon lemon juice

Carefully look over oysters and remove any shells. Chill oysters until serving time. Mix and chill rest of ingredients. Line small cups with lettuce, add oysters and top with sauce mixture. Garnish with parsley, serve.

Savory Stuffing

(For 10-Pound Turkey)

4 tablespoons butter, 1 tablespoon parsley
2 tablespoons onion, 1/2 cup bread crumbs
2 tablespoons chopped celery, 1/2 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons chopped green pepper, 1/2 cup butter, melted
1 egg, 1/2 cup milk

Heat fat in frying pan, add and brown onions, celery and peppers. Cool. Add rest of ingredients, mixing with fork. Lightly stuff fowl.

Gelatin Salad Molds

(Serving 5)

1 package lemon flavored gelatin, 1/2 cup cold pineapple juice
1/2 cup cold water, 1/2 cup cold pineapple juice
1/2 cup cold water, 1/2 cup cold pineapple juice

Pour water over gelatin mixture and stir until dissolved. Add fruit juices. Cool and allow to thicken a little. Add pineapple, celery, pistachios and salt and pour into a ring mold which has been lined with cold water. Chill until stiff. Shape into 1 inch in diameter out of cheese. Chill. Unmold gelatin mixture on lettuce. Fill center with cheese balls, serve with salad dressing.

DID YOU KNOW THAT

A number of "trick" items are being shown for the holidays, such as the purse perfume container which releases a single drop at a time, a tiny patented affair looking something like a lipstick. There are matching cigarette cases and compact cases, boxed, decorated youthfully in such designs as scotties or little pigs—three, of course. Rings are extremely important. Cases such as cigarette cases and compacts are also being developed to match costume jewelry.

The present wave of interest in turquoise blue as a color for costume fashions, as liberally proven in retail windows, and is the inevitable outcome of the send-off Paris gave the turquoise as a stone to be reckoned with in costume jewelry early this fall.

The Russian influence in tiara-cut turbans is finding favor. In developing this type, advocated by Rebois, important looking hats are shown of black velvet, for example, the high cuff finished with a touch of sapphire blue velvet, which is repeated in the crown tip. This use of black with velvet ribbon to contrast is shown in several models. Light blue being the choice in a peak crown model complemented by a narrow brim.

Lelong shows a large collection which includes late models suggestive of Renaissance fashions. These caused Americans present to refer to them as the Henry VIII styles.

Many striped ribbons are used to make belts and collars finishing necklines, both for day and evening.

Mainbocher uses metal motifs for evening tailor-mades, one in black and gold completed by a scarlet sheer blouse and worn with a mannish trimmed hat of self-fabric. Another ensemble is in a delicious pale butter shade with gold, having a double-breasted, tailored swaggar two-third coat, completed by a plaid satin blouse.

Velle as a most flattering adjunct to military have lost none of their appeal, and with the continuation of a romantic flavor in hat fashions, it is obvious that they will develop.

The woman now find it possible to buy the fine type of English sports shoe for sports shoe which has triumphed the moors for years as an important accessory to the British outdoor ensemble.

Regal Evening Clothes

The Rule

New York—The battery of fur is too well known to need discussion here. Since fur hands are favored, then why not add a bit of fur, in one form or another, to your "bestest" evening gown. Women are all royalists at heart and take to the purple, and to ermine robes with much enthusiasm. This season they may add a diadem, which is 1933 for tiara, and be as queenly as they please.

The point to remember about fur is not to overdo it, and not to use anything but the genuine for the trimming highlights. One is willing enough to admit the humbler animals to social affairs, but only when they are used either for sports, or for strict utility. For evening and gala occasions not really calling for fur, one should not risk appearing in anything but the most aristocratic furs.

The dress sketched shows a very charming arrangement of ermine tails. Even without the skins used by way of sleeves, this would be sufficient decoration for most. There is a natural affinity between velvet and fur, especially ermine, also between either or both with jewels. It is a year for important, heavy-looking jewelry.

At a very brilliant ball held recently, one was especially reminded of days of yore because jeweled headpieces were once more in evidence. Several of the debutantes were shimmering stars in their hair. In one instance at least of real diamonds. A number of the debs, and some of the younger matrons favored jeweled clips posed at one or both sides of the coiffure, and seven or eight tiaras of rhinestones appeared. Two of the older women wore these stately adornments of genuine stones. In one instance all diamonds and in another of diamonds, tipped with upward-pointing pear-shaped pearls.

DID YOU KNOW THAT

Hair ornaments are among the most interesting of the current fashions; they show clips with prongs like a tiny comb, done with rhinestone motifs for evening, the clip especially styled to hold the hair set between small teeth.

About Colors

Paris gossip would indicate that the dark-violet tones, much talked about, are not being accepted by private clients of the couture with as much enthusiasm as had been hoped, criticism being that they are too old looking. Centerpieces who prompted greens are doing well with them in dark shades, as forest green, bottle green and some olive. The latter, shown their private clientele give olive, as well as lighter yellowy greens, are being mentioned for spring closing, but adapt it to the spring season by emphasizing ways, also said to have taken well.

The Open Season for Jackets

The suit jacket that fastens at the center front has gradually been climbing in popularity—well established in the bottomed all the way up the front version for the shorter jacket. Now collections of imports based on what the French designers showed their private clientele give an important place to this center front closing, but adapt it to the spring season by emphasizing ways, also said to have taken well.

OPEN-TOP SLEEVES

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

Here is a most style-worthy dinner gown from more than one point of view. In the first place the hammered crepe of benzene mixture in a lovely twilight blue which fashions this femininely frock is not only used to look upon but it is all that a delectably wearable and graceful fabric should be. Of course you took in the charm of the flattering open-top sleeves at first glance. For that matter who wouldn't, for what an adorable fashion it is!

Jack and Jill in Moon

The nursery tale "Jack and Jill" is the relic of a Norse myth, according to the dark patches in the moon. The children are said to have been lapped by the moon when drawing water, and they are still to be seen with the bucket hanging from a pole swung on their shoulders.

BEST FOR LINGERIE

The latest news in lingerie hues gives first place in tints to blue, especially ice blue. This off-white shade was first shown in satin dresses for evening wear last year.

New underthings in this color are trimmed either with Alencon lace dyed to match, or with real Valenciennes either in white or ochre. Other fashionable shades are salmon and rose leaf, as well as white.

Both dull and shiny fabrics are being used in lingerie, always, however, with a smooth surface unlike the draped, pebbled weaves used in dress fabrics today. Crepe de chine is the classic fabric, but there are seen also doll rayon crepes, Pean d'ange jerseys, and satins whose dull-finished backs can be used for contrast.

Boat Neckline Appearing

Again on Style Horizon

Our old friend, the boat neckline, is sailing across fashion's horizon again, this time a more seaworthy craft than formerly. A crisp cuff has been added, to give piquancy to the face above it and accent the flattering line from shoulder to shoulder. Guaranteed to meet any requirement from nose to midnight, the boat neckline is delightful on a luncheon frock, appealing on a dinner dress, and sweetly naive on a formal gown.

Organdie is crisply becoming on a simple dark frock, taffeta or ubiquitous satin, effective at the dinner hour; and lame would be grand for evening. Astute designers, however, are using material of the gown for the cuff button when the model is a formal one.

Hats Copy Dresses

Some of the smart new hats take their cue from dresses, copying dress materials. Ribbed and corded silks, such as tulle and tulle, are especially nice for a first fall hat, since they are so light in weight.

Building and Wrecking

There is some difference between evolution and revolution. The difference is about the same as it is between conservatives and radicals. The conservative builds after careful consideration and the radical too often attacks with no consideration at all. —Lincoln State Journal.

IS SENT TO PRISON 27 HOURS AFTER HE KILLED 3 PERSONS

Public School Principal Finds
That Justice Moves Swiftly
in Michigan.

Grand Rapids, Mich.—Henry B. Bedford, forty-three-year-old grade school principal, credited salaried and former local Sunday school superintendent, was sentenced to life imprisonment at Marquette, the Michigan branch prison, for the murder of Mrs. Maggie Sue Bengert, twenty-eight, and her two children, Carl, Jr., eight, and Thebert, three months.

He was sentenced just 27 hours after the commission of the crime in his home, where the Bengert family lived and where, before two hours had elapsed, the husband and father arrived for an expected reunion and reconciliation to find his wife and children slain.

"It is unnecessary for me to repent," Judge Thaddeus B. Taylor of Grand Rapids Superior court said. "You will have ample opportunity in the days to come to reflect upon the atrocity of your crime."

Gets Maximum Sentence.
Bedford stood motionless with bowed head, hands clasped behind his back, as Judge Taylor, for murder in the first degree, sentenced him "to solitary confinement, at hard labor, for life."

It is the maximum sentence under Michigan law.
After he was sentenced Bedford asked Judge Taylor whether he would be permitted to take his books and typewriter with him to prison.

"I don't want to waste the rest of my life," he said. "I hope that in prison work can be found for me that will be of some service to others."

Bedford, who told reporters recently that he had no knowledge of the crime and that "everything went black" when he drank a glass of milk into which "some one had put something," confessed to Prosecuting Attorney Bartel J. Jonkman.

Quarreled Over Love Affair.

"I am a Christian," he said, "and I loved Mrs. Bengert. There was nothing wrong between us. I hoped to marry her honorably if she would divorce her husband."

Mrs. Bengert, he said, had agreed to a divorce, then had changed her mind. Finally she had promised, in any event, to remain as his housekeeper. But she changed her mind again and told him she was going to leave, though not to return to her husband.

"When she told me she was going to leave," he said, "we quarreled. I followed her upstairs and in a frenzy threw her on the bed and choked her with my hands until she was quiet. Then I tied a cord around her neck. The little boy, Carl, had gone out to the garage. I found him there, choked too. I was mad; I wanted to kill."

"Then I saw the baby in the house. I thought it might be a long time before anyone came, so I put the baby in the gas oven and turned on the gas."

"Then you turned on the rest of the gas jets and lay down to die," he was asked.

"Don't talk about it," the teacher protested. "It's too horrible. I'm going to plead guilty and take my punishment. Why do we have to go over it?"

Dog Finds Alcohol Cache for Montreal Raiders

Montreal.—The sensitive muzzle of a "boobyhound" snopped out a cache of alcohol that liquor police were unable to find.

The officers had made a thorough search of Albert Osborne's home without finding the illicit liquor they had been assured was hidden there, when the dog's ears twitched and he sniffed at the eastern floor of the cellar.

The dog, named Oscar, barked until the officers dug down a few inches into the earth and found two gallons of alcohol.

Oscar's master was arrested and charged with illegal possession.

Needle Left in Body; Victim Is Given $1,250

Detroit.—The Michigan Supreme court affirmed a decision by Circuit Judge Adolph F. Marboer, holding that a needle left in any part of a person's body following an operation is prima facie evidence of malpractice.

Judge Marboer's decision was made in the case of Harry J. La Falve, who was awarded a judgment for $1,250 after a needle had been left in his body following an operation for appendicitis in 1928.

This is the first case in Michigan in which the expert testimony of physicians has not been deemed necessary.

500-Pound Bear Plays With School Children

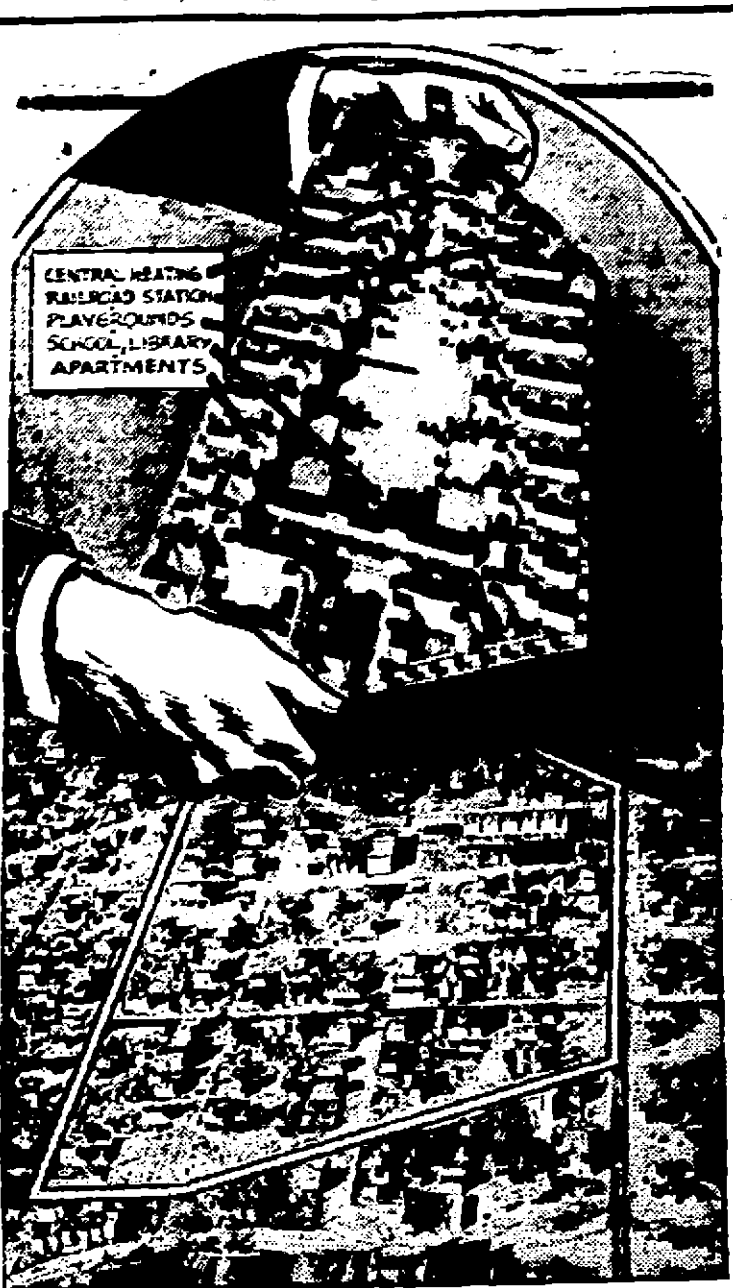

Dominion City, Man.—Teddy, a black bear standing six feet tall on its hind legs and weighing 500 pounds, was won the friendship of the children of this town. The gentle animal, owned by William Mayne, is allowed to roam at large occasionally and the school children offer it scraps from their lunches.

Mr. Mayne wrestles with his big pet, but cannot throw it. Teddy also used to wrestle with an Irish retriever pup, but has outgrown its playmate.

The Regional Plan Association of New York City has used a 41-acre plot (shown below) in a suburban borough for application of its theories, envisioning—all "on paper"—a development such as that shown above to provide low cost homes for about 5,000 to 6,000 persons at low rentals. The "formula" for housing is held applicable to many communities.

Legion Auxiliary Held Session Friday

The regular monthly meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary of Kingston Post, No. 150, was held Friday evening, November 17, in the Memorial Building. Routine business was transacted and the chairman of the committees for the Victory ball gave their reports. Mrs. William McNamee, who was general chairman for the ball, and her co-chairmen and their committees received much credit for their efforts and success. A gratifying sum was realized which was turned over to the Legion toward its welfare and maintenance funds.

The president, Mrs. Conrad J. Helsenman, and secretary, Mrs. Peter Carey, gave excellent reports of the Third District Conference Schools of Instruction which was held in Albany, November 3. At this conference the state president, Miss Edna Amrose, was present, also the state chairman of all the various standing committees. These chairmen conducted conferences of their particular committees giving constructive suggestions and helpful ideas to the chairmen of the several auxiliary units of the third district. Printed sheets were given to each of the local chairmen to assist her in carrying on the work of her committee. Besides Mrs. Helsenman and Mrs. Carey, the Kingston unit was represented at the School of Instruction by Mrs. Stanley Matthews, Mrs. William McNamee and Mrs. Edward Hillis.

The auxiliary wishes to announce that it has received a shipment of the vanilla extract. The initial sales campaign which it sponsored last winter. Throughout the past few months many requests have been received by purchasers who were anxious to have more of this extract. Inasmuch as those who bought the extract last winter evidently were satisfied, and desirous of ordering more, the auxiliary has decided to keep a supply on hand at all times to fill orders. From the sale of these extracts the local unit receives an unusually high percentage of the sale price, thereby adding substantially to its funds for carrying on its welfare civic and charitable work. Orders for the vanilla may be placed by calling the telephone number given on the label of the bottle, or 3572, and delivery will follow.

At this meeting it was decided to hold a clam chowder sale on December 8. Mrs. Herman DuBois, chairman, assisted by Mrs. Chris Roche, Mrs. Jane McManus, Mrs. Roy Jacob, Mrs. E. Greene and Mrs. Joseph Sills.

Plans were formulated for entertaining the Legions and Auxiliaries of the county at the December meeting. The president and county delegates, Mrs. J. S. Metzger, Mrs. R. T. Woodward, Mrs. George DuBois, Mrs. J. McManus are the committee in charge of this affair which will be held at the American Legion Building.

Mrs. Raymond Woodward, membership chairman, announced that the membership drive is now under way. Auxiliary members who have not already done so are urged to pay their dues. The mother, wife, sister or daughter of a Legionnaire is eligible to become an Auxiliary member. Present members, those who have been members in the past or any one not having belonged heretofore but who is interested in joining are requested to renew or enter into membership with the American Legion Auxiliary and become a part of this organization which carries on such worthwhile work.

Today

Kingston: "The Late Christopher Bean." A dramatic and sentimental stage hit, this enjoyable story of a painter whose art becomes famous after his death, constitutes one of the finest screen presentations in some time. Marie Dressler rises to new honors as the star of the play, and she also contributes one of the most lovable screen characterizations in history as the servant in a New England family, who loved and appreciated Christopher Bean, a drunken painter who boarded at the house. Everyone else considers him a worthless, lazy fool, but after his death, it is discovered that his painting is world famous. There is naturally a wild scramble for the paintings he created while at the house, and the outcome of it all makes dramatic entertainment. Supporting Miss Dressler are such capable players as Lionel Barrymore, Jean Hersholt, H. B. Warner, Helen Mack and Russell Hardie. This talkie also ushers in Wide Range sound at the Kingston theatre, a new invention that clarifies speech and makes whispers natural and understandable in every part of the theatre.

Orpheum: "Tomorrow at Seven" and "Sundown Trail." Two first run pictures are to be seen at the Orpheum, the first a murder mystery that is alive with thrilling moments and intense situations. One of the reasons for the picture's appeal is due to the excellent acting of the cast. Chester Morris, Vivienne Osborne, Allan Jenkins, Frank McHugh, Grant Mitchell and Henry Stephenson all do excellent work under the skill of Director Roy Enright. "Sundown Trail" is a Tom Keene western drama, and it is one of his newest and best pictures.

Broadway: "Four Vanderville Acts" and "Midshipman Jack." The stage show is the best that has been offered by the Broadway to date. Every act on the program is well done, and worth seeing. "Alexander Brothers and Evelyn," start off the show with a tricky and talented ball juggling act with numerous novelties and original bits of work all blended into a fine unit. The "Four Honey Boys," a blackface harmony team, proved to be an entertaining act that offers both singing and dancing as its specialties. "Fred Harper and Co." is a comedy offering that is really funny and enjoyable, filled with numerous gags, songs, dancing and patter. "The Four Collegians" is a sporting revue that offers songs and dancing in a whirlwind variety. Jacob Mollott and his orchestra play the musical accompaniment to all the acts. "Midshipman Jack" tells the story of the making of men for the United States Navy, and the show is exciting, enjoyable, laughable and well acted. Bruce Cabot heads the cast as a midshipman at Annapolis who forgets to follow rules, and who runs into trouble for his neglect. The spirit of the Naval Training School is well drawn, and Frank Albertson, Arthur Lake and Betty Furness support Mr. Cabot in grand style.

Tomorrow

Kingston: Same.
Orpheum: "Men are Such Fools" and "Skyway." Leo Carillo, Una Merkel, Vivienne Osborne and Joseph Cawthorn are the main figures in this modern tale of the bright lights. "Skyway" is a story of aviation, with Kathryn Crawford and Ray Walker.
Broadway: "The Emperor Jones." Eugene O'Neill's strange play of the negro porter who becomes a king, comes to the screen after a brilliant run on the legitimate stage and the opera, with Paul Robeson, the great negro singer in the starring role. An almost negro cast lends ample support, and this show develops into unusual screen drama. Romance and comedy find little place in this character study of a big buck negro with a superiority complex who leaves his job as a Pullman porter and finally rises to the throne in a negro country. Cocky, brutal, ignorant, he meets his death in the jungle of the country he sought to rule, and he dies a victim of superstition, as the voodoo drums of the natives beat in the background. Wide Range Sound is also offered at the Broadway with this attraction. Buster Crabbe, star of the serial "Tarzan the Fearless" is also an added feature of the bill.

KERHONKSON.

Kerhonkson, Nov. 25.—Kerhonkson Reformed Church will serve its annual Thanksgiving turkey dinner Tuesday evening, November 28, beginning at 5:30. A fine entertainment consisting of four sketches will be presented after the dinner at about 8 o'clock.

The lodges will all meet in the Reformed Church Sunday morning, November 26, for service.

Mr. and Mrs. Van Derolst and family have moved into the new house of Harrison Burger.

There will be a special Thanksgiving service in the M. E. Church Sunday evening, November 26.

Mrs. James Addis, who has been ill for over three weeks, is able to be outdoors again.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Olds have rented a home in Patankunk and will move there shortly.

Mr. and Mrs. George Bush of Kingston spent Wednesday evening with H. Gerner.
